STOCKPORT.

THIS is a town of great and growing population, evincing the certain and considerable benefits which flow from the hand of labour and toil. It is the residence of many spirited and opulent manufacturers; who, in the articles of silk, cotton, and check, give employment and bread to many hundred industrious families. It stands on the river Mersey, and is distant from London 175 miles. Its weekly market is on Friday. The number of fairs in the year are four, viz. on the 4th and 25th of March, on the 1st of May, and 25th of October.

IS divided, as it were, into two towns; for which reason it is called, in King's Vale Royal, High and Low

Low Knutsford. Each of them has a church. The situation is pleasant, and the town is neat.—Its distance from London is 158 miles.—Here are two annual fairs, viz. July 10, and November 8.—Its weekly market is on Saturday.—The annual race-meeting at Knutsford is remarkable for being honoured with a more brilliant assemblage of nobility and gentry, than any other in the county; not excepting even Chester.
